Lanco Aban gets CII award

Hyderabad, Sept. 2

Lanco's Aban Power Company Ltd (APCL) has won the National "Energy Efficient Unit" award instituted by the Confederation of Indian Industry (CII) - Godrej GBC. Lanco's Aban is a 119.8 MW gas-based combined cycle power plant located at Karupur village in the Tanjore district of Tamil Nadu. Its operation and maintenance is carried out by Lanco's own in-house team. Shortlisted from 137 contestants, Lanco's APCL emerged as a winner on account of its innovative and proactive measures implemented to conserve electrical and thermal energy in day-to-day operations. Lanco's APCL has drawn wide appreciation and commendations for initiatives for achieving global standards in Clean Development Mechanism (CDM) and Specific Energy Consumption (SEC). —Our Bureau
